ABSTRACT

A method includes partitioning a memory device to produce a first group of memory entries being accessible in parallel and selectable independent of a second group of memory entries 5 in the memory device that is accessible in parallel.

20778254.doc